In the IASJ we have the obligation to adjust to this. The IASJ the only, still expanding, international jazz network around, is now moving to the center of culture. No, we can no longer sit quietly in the save dark minority corner and complain that nobody sees us and nobody loves us. Jazz has stepped out into the bright daylight. Jazz is everything and everywhere. Everybody loves jazz!

Finally I gave in to the temptation ate the jazz apple: it tastes very good, like a brilliant jazz improvisation!

IASJ website
The website of the IASJ is constantly updated. Please have a look and let me know what you think of it. Also, if you are a representative of a school, please check if IASJ Fact Sheet of your school still is up to date. It is my experience that many potential students use this information in order to determine which school they would like to attend. If there is any information that needs to be updated, please let me know. Do not try to change the information while you are on the internet. It may "seem" that you can personally change text, Future students use the information on the Fact Sheet List in order to make their choices for schools to study.
